

Aerospace Europe CEAS 2017 Conference

European Aerospace: Quo Vadis?

Organized by AAR - The Aeronautics and Astronautics Association of Romania
PARLIAMENT of ROMANIA, 2-6 October 2017

The Aerospace Europe CEAS 2017 Conference brings together academic, research, industry and operator representatives for a fruitful date exchange of the latest ideas and developments in European aeronautics and aerospace.

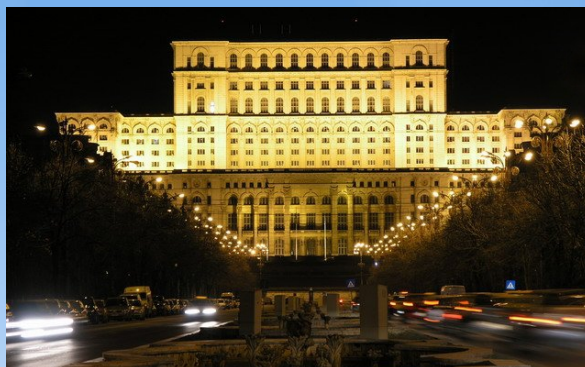

The Aerospace Europe CEAS 2017 Conference will be held in Bucharest, ROMANIA, in The PARLIAMENT of ROMANIA,
International Conference Center, 2nd to 6th October 2017

CEAS is a society comprised of 14 European national aerospace societies, and one Russian research institute involved in every aspect of aeronautics and the space environment, including academia, research, industry, operators and MRO organizations. The aim for the Aerospace Europe CEAS 2017 Conference is for it to develop and gradually become The European Congress in Aerospace Sciences, with the goal of creating a means of true scientific cooperation between all European players.

For all those involved in the aeronautical or space fields, we therefore wish to invite you to be our guests at the conference.

The principal channels for disseminating conference proceedings are the two journals reviewed according to Springer's procedures: CEAS Aeronautical Journal and CEAS Space Journal. Selected conference papers will be published in the CEAS Journals as well as in The Aeronautical Journal of The Royal Aeronautical Society.

First Call for Papers will be published soon and will include all the details of the conference web site: www.ceas2017.org

Local coorganizers:

COMOTI
ROMANIAN RESEARCH & DEVELOPMENT INSTITUTE FOR GAS TURBINES

INCAS - NATIONAL INSTITUTE
FOR AEROSPACE RESEARCH
"ELIE CARAFOLI"

